From the negative standpoint. From the negative standpoint. From the negative are special purity of life.

Biblical laws divided into positive and negative, incumbent on isreal. They further declared that David had reduced these 612 to 11: Isiah had reduced them to 5: and Habbakuk to a single one. Ariba said the furdamental law of Judaism was "thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself," while Ben Assal, agreeing as to number, declared this fundamental law to be found in Genises—"this is the seneration of man." And Hillel, agreeing and a to number, declared it to be the moder rule, "what is hateful to thee do not to thy neighbor."

Other rabbis found the sum and substance of Judaism in the ten commandments; Maimoides gave us 12 attickes of faith and some of his contemporaries reduced these to seven while Joseph Albo emphanized but three.

To come to more recent times, David Einhorn posited five, while the Central Conference of American Habida posited but four.

No Hard and Fast Rule.

Thus it is self seldent that in no period of Jewish history has there been a hard and fast rule as to docume the self self of the last rule as to docume the self of the last rule as to docume thing more universal than a confession of faith.

What then is the basis of this purity; what is it we must observe if we would be more lefour find.

I know no single expression of this suplime thought more worthy of our attention than the words of the Psalmist (Psalm 14: "Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord and who shall stand in His holy place! He that hath clean hands and a pure heart, who hath not lifted his soul unto falsehood and hath not sworn decriffally. He shall receive a blessing from the Lord and righteousness from the God of His salvation." What a wonderful Thought,
